01 Q1

Currier & Ives.

The firm brought a painter’s winter scenes to a larger audience by making prints that people could own.

02 Q5

A dog.

The museum's description places it near the young person with a staff. Cattle and chickens are farther back.

03 Q6

Hand-colored lithograph.

The entry identifies both the printing process and the way color was added. Accept lithography for the process.

04 Q15

The 1930s.

The catalog's approximate date is 1935. Using a decade gives players room to remember the period without guessing a day.

05 Q18

Summerville.

The State Department also names two murals in Washington, DC. The clue specifies the Georgia location to make the target clear.

06 Q21

Twenty.

A pane is the unit being counted here. The printer made many panes, with a much larger total number of stamps.

07 Q24

Holiday Celebrations.

The series title is broader than the individual holiday. Have teams give both words for the full title.

08 Q28

Forty feet.

That is the length, distinct from the height of approximately thirty feet and the width of about twenty-three.
